The exhibition centres on the individuals of Botswana, the people who make Botswana the country we know it to be, ranging from close family and friends, to a taxi driver to an anonymous woman at the hairdresser.

The title of the exhibition, 'I know you, you know him, he knows her who I know too,' captures the relentless familiarity Botswana offers its people.

The collection of 35 pieces consists of two different mediums; acrylic on canvas as well as water colours on drafting film.

The exhibition will be showing for the period of a month until 14 March 2014.
